

Code of Conduct

The Moonee Valley Interfaith Network operates under a code of conduct clarifying what the network is and what it is not. All network members and people who attend network events must agree to abide by this code of conduct.

What the Network is:

- an opportunity to celebrate the customs, cultures and beliefs of various faith traditions
- an opportunity to promote respect and tolerance amongst faith communities
- a recognition of core human values
- an opportunity for dialogue and understanding

What the Network is not:

- not a creation of a new universal religion made from various faith traditions
- not a compromise of one's own individual beliefs
- not a forum for exclusive religious claims
- not an opportunity for conversion or proselytisation
- not an opportunity for promoting one's beliefs at the expense of another
- not an opportunity for religious argument
